

ABSTRACT:

An arrangement (1) which can be activated for an operating time and which includes a modular unit (2) that can be started and stopped, and which includes stopping means (5) which are designed for stopping the started modular unit (2), has delay means (6) which are designed for delaying the stopping of the modular unit (2) in accordance with a run-out time during the operating time of the arrangement (1), and further has changing means (7) which are designed for changing the run-out time.

Fig. 1